

NEW RIFLE FOR COAST DEFENSE STANDS TESTS

Fort De Russy's Second 14-in.
Gun Proof-Fired Without Accident Today

With perfect satisfaction to the Coast Artillery officers present, the big 14-inch gun at Fort De Russy was fired four times today, between 11:30 and 12:30 o'clock. Col. William C. Rafferty, commander of the Coast Artillery here, was present, and Capt. Norris Statton was in immediate charge of firing the gun.

Beginning at 25 per cent below the normal powder charge, the charge was carried to 1.15 per cent, the last charge being 400 pounds. The gun was elevated to drop the big shells 5000 yards at sea, which it did with a resulting splash plainly visible from the shore, a great column of water spouting up where the projectiles hit. At the post this afternoon there are several dozen windows missing and other minor damage done. Officers at Fort De Russy had no complaints of glass or other breakage from nearby residences this afternoon.

FOLLOW VENTURA CLEAR TO SYDNEY WITH WIRELESS

Out at the Federal Telegraph Company's wireless plant at Kaneohe, where the big steel towers loom up to the sky, company operators will try tonight and tomorrow to keep in touch with the Oceanic steamer Ventura as it steams nearer to Sydney. If they succeed in doing this until the ship reaches Australia, they will have established a new record for the Pacific, as concerns communication between land stations and ships at sea.

Manager W. Y. Nolley of the Federal made an announcement this morning relative to the remarkable achievement of late yesterday afternoon, when a second trial succeeded in establishing communication with the Ventura when she was 244 miles from this port, and 82 miles the other side of Pago Pago. This is a better record than that made Sunday night, when the plant was in touch with the boat 2120 miles away, and is more remarkable in view of the fact that it was made in the daytime, when conditions are less favorable for transmission than at night. The Ventura left here a week ago yesterday.

SAVES LIFE BY LEAP TO GROUND AS HOUSE BURNS

Frank Calton, tenant of one of two small cottages back of the Abadie French Laundry on King street near Alapai, saved his life last night by jumping from a second story window when the crackling of flames woke him up. The blaze had already enveloped the building when Calton was aroused, and he ran to the front window and jumped, landing without sustaining any serious injury.

Alarm was sent in by Calton at 2:30 this morning, but before the fire apparatus arrived the two buildings, one belonging to Abadie and the other to John F. Bowler, were beyond saving. Both of the buildings were completely consumed, with some stable equipment and harness stored in one of them. The loss is nominal.

Abadie's laundry was saved by the firemen, who arrived in time to keep the blaze from spreading to the main building.

SMIDDY FINDS ILLICIT STILL ON HOMESTEAD

Marshal J. J. Smiddy returned to Honolulu from Hilo today, having in custody four prisoners, one of whom is charged with having conducted a still for the illicit manufacture of liquor.

The defendant in question is Joe Delima, brother of Mrs. Freeman Sylvester of Hilo, who owns a homestead in the Waialea tract near the Crescent City. On Saturday night Marshal Smiddy, accompanied by Ned Crabbe, a revenue officer, went up to Delima's place and found the still. According to the marshal, Delima had been distilling rum from a mixture of molasses and corn. He was arrested and the still was destroyed. Several parts of it were brought to Honolulu as evidence.

ANY OLD CHEFA TICKET PROVES HOLDER GUILTY

Time of Drawing and Name of Bank Not Necessary, Judge
Monsarrat's Ruling

What is probably the most important decision in regard to gambling ever rendered in the police court was made this morning, when Judge James M. Monsarrat ruled that the prosecution does not need to show what bank a chefa ticket is on or when the drawing will take place in order to secure conviction under the ordinance relating to having lottery tickets in possession.

Judge Monsarrat stated in rendering his decision that the possession of a lottery ticket was prima facie evidence of guilt, and that the defendant must prove that the ticket is for a drawing which is past, or is on a bank not in existence, in order to secure an acquittal.

Attorney W. T. Rawlins, representing several chefa defendants, took exception to the ruling and declared that he would take the cases to the supreme court.

Rawlins, in the case of George Lobo, raised the point that the prosecution had not shown that the ticket found in his client's possession depended upon a game of chance. Testimony, he said, had been introduced to prove it was a chefa ticket, but if the drawing had already taken place it was not a lottery ticket any longer. He insisted it was necessary for the prosecution to show the ticket might still draw a prize, and prove what bank it was issued from. This point has been fought over for months, while chefa cases piled upon the calendar, and was settled this morning as far as the police court is concerned by the decision of Judge Monsarrat.

Decision of Big Importance.
O. F. Chillingworth, assistant city attorney, and Arthur McDuffie, chief of detectives, both said today that Judge Monsarrat's decision must be proved what bank a chefa ticket was issued by before conviction could be secured, it would leave them utterly helpless as far as stopping lotteries is concerned. Chefa tickets are unmarked, and as there is no possible way of proving where they are issued, any other decision than the one made today would have practically licensed chefa playing.

Thirty cases, some of them first brought up as long ago as July, have been held over from time to time until a decision was made on the point brought up by Attorney Rawlins. All of these were on the calendar today, and fines of $25 and costs were imposed in a number of the cases. A few were continued, and this afternoon the court is still taking up the rest of the cases and in most instances is imposing the usual fine.

MAJOR BLAKELY GETS TRANSFER TO PHILIPPINES

Maj. George Blakely, Coast Artillery Corps, who has been commandant at Fort De Russy, has been relieved from the assignment and will leave for Manila on the Thomas, which is due to reach here November 13. He has been assigned to the inspector general's department in the Philippines.

Capt. Norris Statton of the 10th Company, C. A. C., will succeed Maj. Blakely as commandant at De Russy.

MR. AND MRS. W. A. BALDWIN and their two children of Hailu, Maui, are departing this afternoon on the Manoa for the mainland. Mr. Baldwin is manager of the Hailu Fruit & Packing Company of Maui.

The government nursery on King street, the experiment station in Maiki Valley and the forests on Sugarloaf Hill were visited by a party of members of the Y. W. C. A. Saturday afternoon, under the direction of David Haugha, who is in charge of the King street nursery. Though the mud was deep and the climbing hard, the young women enjoyed the outing, and are looking forward to the next trip, which will be over the Manoa cliff trail on November 20.

LIEUT. J. E. GREEN of the 25th Infantry will leave here today for the coast on the Manoa.

NO SCOUTS WILL BE IN SIGHT AS MATSONIA DOCKS

But When Jas. A. Wilder Walks
Down Gangway They Will
Swarm From Every Side

As James A. Wilder, the Boy Scout Commissioner of Hawaii, steps down the gangway of the Matsonia at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow morning, when the ship docks at Pier 15, he will be extended a hearty welcome in recognition of the deep affection felt for him by all Boy Scout troops in Honolulu and vicinity.

Final plans for the royal greeting to Mr. Wilder were formulated today by Harry Hayward, deputy scout commissioner for this area. Mr. Hayward has framed up a genuine surprise. No Boy Scouts will be in sight when the Matsonia docks the dock, but the minute Mr. Wilder walks down the gangway the pier will be invaded by all the scouts in the city, headed by the Royal Hawaiian Band playing Mr. Wilder's own composition, "The Boy Scout March."

From the pier, the procession will form and proceed up to Fort Street, escorting Mr. Wilder. The route of the parade is from the dock to Fort, up Fort to Hotel, and from Hotel street to the Y. M. C. A.

On the steps of the Y. M. C. A. will be standing Mayor Lane, who will greet the homecoming Honolulu in behalf of the people of this city, shaking hands with him and speaking a few words of welcome. The reception will be over by 8 o'clock, so that the scouts will have time to disband and reach school on time.

Tomorrow night at 8 o'clock, on the spacious grounds of the John Guild residence at Kaalawai, a campfire and general homecoming rally will be held, with Mr. Wilder as the guest of honor. He will make the boys a talk, "Hitting the high spots" of his experience in the states in the last several months.

Mrs. Wilder and their two children will remain in the East until next May, as the boys are attending school in New England. Mrs. Wilder is staying with her daughter in the East.

DELIRIUM TREMENS PRISONER FOUND TO HAVE BROKEN HIP

After lying in a stupor brought on by delirium tremens, Charles Silva was found last night to have a broken hip, probably sustained before he was taken to the jail Saturday. Silva was taken to Queen's hospital.

Police officers say in commenting on the case that they have no place to keep insane persons or delirium tremens patients and as this class of prisoners are often violent or becoming injured, Silva, they say, may have broken his hip in his cell, as there is no padded compartment provided. The hospital will not take care of delirium tremens patients and the police have not even a straight jacket for them.

CITY BEAUTIFUL PLANS OF WOMEN TOLD AT LUNCH

Outdoor Circle Members Draw Largest Crowd of Months
to Pan-Pacific Club

Outdoor Circle Day brought the largest crowd that has attended the Pan-Pacific luncheon in months. Every seat was taken long before the first speaker of the day told of the work of the Outdoor Circle. Mrs. F. J. Lowrey was the chairman of the meeting and told of the interest taken in the work of the ladies in Honolulu.

In explaining the purpose of the Outdoor Circle, Mrs. Lowrey stated that there were 325 members in the circle in the city, each one having a chairman, the chairman of each circle being a member of the board of management. Mrs. Lowrey urged those present to aid in beautifying the city, and asked that all dead palms and rubbish be removed from the lawns.

Mrs. Lowrey Thurston explained the work of the Outdoor Circle in reference to the coming Children's Carnival, and laid special emphasis on the work that the children can do in making a beautiful city. She referred to the work that is being done in keeping up the interest in public improvements, and praised the supervisors for what they have done and are doing to make Honolulu a place of beauty.

Mrs. W. F. Frear told of the results that come from a better idea of the work in keeping the gardens and the lawns clean. She stated that the effect of the work will not be as does the homecoming in Australia. Mrs. Frear stated that the child was a big factor in the work. The child can understand that the lawns must be kept clean, she said, and then told of the work that the youngsters are doing in this respect.

Mrs. Isaac Cox spoke on the subject of "Better Work for a Better City." She told of the many billboards in the city that are an eyesore to the citizens, and asked those present to work for improvements along the line of eradicating some of the ugly spots in Honolulu. Mrs. Arthur G. Smith, educational worker of the Outdoor Circle, asked that the city be given more waste boxes for the street corners. Mrs. Smith also told of the work that is being done among the children in the kindergartens.

Mayor Lane in a few words thanked the women for the interest in public affairs, and stated that he had learned much about beautifying a city since the organization of the Outdoor Circle. Music was furnished by the newly organized Filipino orchestra.

Two bids for the Makiki Round Top road work were tendered to the department of public works at noon yesterday as follows: John H. Wilson, $1125, 30 days, and Honolulu Construction and Draying Company, $1200, 18 days. No award has been made.
